Andean Naturals imports and wholesales Organic Royal Quinoa in the United States. At the core of its mission, the company is committed to increasing the incomes of Andean farmers while promoting organic and sustainable agriculture.

Andean Naturals is aware of the concerns with the use of GMOs (Genetically Modified Organisms) in the U.S. food supply. Seeds that have been bio-engineered are producing varied results and have not had extensive testing, due to their recent development.

Andean Naturals chooses not to purchase nor promote the use of GMO seeds in the Andes. The company believes that the use of GMO seeds looks towards short-term gains, failing to address core production issues such as weaker plants due to lower rotation periods, lack of alternative planting and lower seed biodiversity.

Andean Naturals developed the Royal Quinoa brand to help identify the quinoa that was produced with heirloom seeds, following organic and sustainable practices.
